

Kick Start Licence

Last updated October 16, 2026

Web version: noctic.ink/kick-start/license. This PDF was made on October 16, 2026 from the text published there; later changes appear on the web page.

This licence covers the Kick Start source code you download after paying for it. Paying and downloading it means you accept it. Noctic is operated by Nicholas Steiche, carrying on business as Noctic, in Montreal, Quebec, Canada ("Noctic", "we", "us").

1. What you may do

Use, copy and change the source code to build any number of your own products, commercial or not, for yourself or for a client, and ship those products under your own name. You do not need to credit Noctic.

2. Who it is for

The licence belongs to the person who paid, or to the one organisation they paid for. Anyone working for you or with you on a product may use it for that product.

3. What you may not do

Resell, share or publish the source code, or a lightly changed version of it, as a starter kit, template, boilerplate or course material, or post the download anywhere other people can get it. Your finished products may contain the code; the kit itself stays with you.

4. Other people's code

Kick Start includes open-source packages, such as Next.js, Drizzle and Tailwind. Each keeps its own licence, and nothing here changes those licences.

5. Services you connect

Kick Start can connect to services such as Stripe, Google and GitHub. Your use of them is between you and them, under their terms.

6. No warranty

Apart from the promise in the Refund and Cancellation Policy (noctic.ink/refunds) that it works as described, Kick Start is provided as it is. You are responsible for reviewing, testing and securing the products you build with it. To the extent the law allows, our liability is limited to the price you paid.

7. Ending

If you break this licence, it ends and you must stop distributing products built with Kick Start until you put it right. These terms are governed by the laws of Quebec and the federal laws of Canada that apply there. The courts of the judicial district of Montreal have jurisdiction, except where the law of the place you live gives you the right to bring proceedings at home. Nothing in them removes a right you hold under the Quebec Consumer Protection Act or any other consumer law that cannot be contracted out of.

Copyright 2026 Noctic™. All rights reserved. Noctic, Shiba AI, Cadence and Noctic Compass are trademarks of Noctic.