Tacet Reservation Terms

Last updated November 1, 2026

Web version: noctic.ink/reservations. This PDF was made on November 2, 2026 from the text published there; later changes appear on the web page.

These terms apply when you reserve a Tacet™, Tacet™ Neo, TacetBook™ Nano or TacetBook™ Pro. Tacet™ is a concept: none of these machines has been manufactured, there is no manufacturing partner yet, and the final hardware may differ from what this site shows.

1. What a reservation is

A reservation puts your name on a list of up to one hundred people, in the order requests arrive. It is not an order and not a contract to buy. It costs nothing, and no payment details are collected.

2. What we do

We confirm your place by email, with your position in the list. We contact you again only when something real happens, such as a manufacturing partner, a date or a price.

3. At release

Buying is locked until release, which we do not expect before 2030. When a machine is ready to sell, we ask you to confirm before anything is charged. If you do not confirm, nothing happens and your place passes to the next person. Prices and specifications shown today are indicative and may change before release.

4. No guarantee

We may never make some or all of these machines, and a reservation does not guarantee that you will be able to buy one, at any price or on any date. If we end the programme, we will tell everyone on the list.

5. Changing or cancelling

Your reservation is held against your Noctic Account, so only you can change or cancel it, at any time and for no charge.

6. Your information

We keep your name, email and the model you chose only to run the list. We delete them within thirty days of you cancelling or of the programme ending, as the Privacy Policy (noctic.ink/privacy-policy) describes.

Copyright 2026 Noctic™. All rights reserved. Noctic, Shiba AI and Cadence are trademarks of Noctic.